Comprehension:

Read the given passage and answer the question that follows.

Incredible though it may seem, while the percentage of literacy in India has been going up, the number of illiterates has also been increasing. According to the 1966 figures, there were 353 million illiterates in the country – 20 million more than in 1961. During the same period, the percentage of literacy went up from 24% to 29%. The explanation for this paradox lies in the rapid growth of population, which has outpaced whatever little progress has been achieved in literacy. For instance, from 1951 to 1961, literacy increased at an annual average rate of 0.7%, while the country's population grew by 2.15% every year. But the population explosion is not entirely responsible for the growing number of illiterates.

The apathy of most states in failing to tackle the problem of adult literacy is also partly to blame. Till now, they have shown little awareness of the magnitude of the problem. Moreover, follow up measures to prevent neo literates from relapsing into illiteracy are just as important as the initial adult literacy campaigns. Here too, the State Education Authorities have been negligent. Not sufficient provisions have been made for continued education. This can be done by setting up more rural libraries, adult schools and correspondence courses.
