SECTION A READING SKILLS

(22 marks)

1. Read the following passages.

12

Ours was the marsh country, down by the river, within twenty miles of the sea. My first most vivid and broad impression of the identity of things seems to me to have been gained on a memorable raw afternoon towards evening. The low leaden line beyond was the river; and that the distant savage lair from which the wind was rushing was the sea; and that the small bundle of shivers growing afraid of it all and beginning to cry, was Pip.

“Hold your noise!” cried a terrible voice, as a man started up from among the graves at the side of the bushes. “Keep still, or I’ll make you pay!”

A fearful man, all in coarse grey, with a great iron on his leg. A man with no hat, and with broken shoes, and with an old rag tied round his head. A man who had been soaked in water, and smothered in mud, limped, and shivered, and glared, and growled; and whose teeth chattered in his head as he seized me.

“Tell us your name!” said the man. “Quick! Give it mouth!”

“Pip. Pip, sir.”

“Show us where you live,” said the man. “Point out the place!”

The man, after looking at me for a moment, emptied my pockets. There was nothing in them but a piece of bread which he ate ravenously.

"Now lookee here!" said the man. "Where's your mother?"

"There, sir!" said I.

He started, made a short run, and stopped and looked over his shoulder.

"Oh!" said he, coming back. "Who's that?" he asked, pointing.

"My sister, sir, —Mrs. Joe Gargery, —wife of Joe Gargery, the blacksmith, sir."

"Blacksmith, eh?" said he. And looked down at his leg.

After darkly looking at his leg, he came close to me, took me by both arms, and tilted me back as far as he could hold me; so that his eyes looked most powerfully down into mine, and mine looked most helplessly up into his.

"Now lookee here," he said, "You know what a file and wittles is?"

"Yes, sir."

After each question he tilted me over a little more, so as to give me a greater sense of helplessness and danger.

"You get me a file." He tilted me again. "And wittles." He tilted me again. "You bring 'em both to me."

I was dreadfully frightened, and so giddy that I clung to him with both hands, and said, "If you would kindly please to let me keep upright, sir, perhaps I shouldn't be sick, and perhaps I could attend more."

He did. Then, he held me by the arms, in an upright position, and went on with his terms.

2. Read the following carefully. 10

- 1 A recent survey was conducted among 2,000 college students and young professionals to analyse preferences for different types of jobs, including corporate roles, personal start-ups or family businesses, and service professions (example - defense, nursing, police). The study aimed to identify trends in career aspirations, the factors influencing these preferences, and their implications for workforce planning and education systems. Participants were asked to rank their preferences on a five-point scale.
- 2 The study covered respondents across urban and semi-urban areas, representing diverse educational, economic, and cultural backgrounds. Researchers ensured diversity in gender, socioeconomic status, and career stages to make the findings representative of a broad spectrum of opinions. Data collection involved online questionnaires and in-person interviews, ensuring a comprehensive understanding of job preferences. The data was displayed as a bar graph given below.

- 3 Corporate jobs were commonly associated with financial stability, growth opportunities, and access to structured career paths. Start-ups and family businesses, on the other hand, appealed to those valuing autonomy, creativity, and the chance to work in more flexible environments. Service professions were perceived as fulfilling and prestigious, especially among individuals motivated by a sense of duty.
- 4 The survey also highlighted several challenges. Geographic variations were significant, with urban respondents gravitating more toward corporate roles, while semi-urban participants showed a stronger inclination for service professions and family businesses. Respondents indicated limited mentorship opportunities and a lack of clarity about the long-term prospects of non-corporate careers as barriers influencing their decisions.
- 5 The findings provide a foundation for further research into how cultural, regional, and generational influences shape career choices. Future studies could explore factors such as gender-based preferences, emerging industries, mentorship availability, and the role of technological advancements in shaping job markets. Additionally, longitudinal research could track how these preferences evolve as respondents advance in their careers. This could help educational institutions and employers develop tailored strategies to better align with the aspirations and values of young job seekers. Moreover, policies encouraging skill development and mentorship programmes may bridge the gaps identified in this survey, ensuring more informed career decisions among youth.

B. Derry: What they think.

Mr Lamb: What do they think, then?

Derry: You think.... 'Here's a boy.' You look at me...and then you see my face and you think. 'That's bad. That's a terrible thing. That's the ugliest thing I ever saw.' You think, 'Poor boy.' But I'm not. Not poor. Underneath, you are afraid. Anybody would be. I am. When I look in the mirror, and see it, I'm afraid of me.

Mr Lamb: No, Not the whole of you. Not of you.

Derry: Yes!

[Pause]

(On the Face of It)

I. What does Mr. Lamb mean when he says, "No. Not the whole of you. Not of you"? 1

II. What might Derry be thinking during the pause after he insists, "Yes!"? 1

Choose the most appropriate option:

A. "Why doesn't he understand me?"

B. "He's pretending to care like everyone else."

C. "Maybe he really sees more than just my face."

D. "I should leave. He doesn't get it."

III. Fill in the blank with a suitable word: 1

Mr. Lamb's response suggests that he sees Derry's face as only one _____ of who he is.

IV. What does this exchange reveal about the emotional distance Derry feels and Mr. Lamb's attempt to bridge it? 1

9. Read the following extracts and solve ANY ONE of the given two, (A) or (B). 1x6=6

A. She said this in such a friendly manner that the rattrap peddler must have felt confidence in her.

'It would never have occurred to me that you would bother with me yourself, miss,' he said. 'I will come at once.'

He accepted the fur coat, which the valet handed him with a deep bow, threw it over his rags, and followed the young lady out to the carriage, without granting the astonished blacksmiths so much as a glance.

But while he was riding up to the manor house he had evil forebodings.

"Why the devil did I take that fellow's money?" he thought. "Now I am sitting in the trap and will never get out of it."

(The Rattrap)

- I. Which of the following best reflect the 'friendly manner' Edla exhibits toward the rattrap peddler as referred to in the extract? 1

- A. He decided to humour her gesture.
  - B. He felt obligated to trust her kindness.
  - C. He remained unsure about her true intentions.
  - D. He recognised and appreciated her compassion.

- IV. What might have been the most likely reason the blacksmiths were astonished when the peddler accepted the coat and left with Edla? 1

- V. Justify that guilt was the primary cause of the peddler's sense of evil foreboding, based on the information in the extract? 1

- VI. Complete the following suitably. 1

When the peddler says, "...I will never get out," his statement stems from his guilt over stealing 'that fellow's' money and his fear that _____ .

OR

- B. "She thinks money grows on trees, don't she, Dad?", said little Derek, hanging on the back of his father's chair.

Their mother sighed. Sophie watched her back stooped over the sink and wondered at the incongruity of the delicate bow which fastened her apron strings. The delicate-seeming bow and the crooked back.

The evening had already blacked in the windows and the small room was steamy from the stove and cluttered with the heavy-breathing man in his vest at the table and the dirty washing piled up in the corner. Sophie felt a tightening in her throat. She went to look for her brother Geoff.

(Going Places)

- I. Fill in the blank by choosing the correct option from those given in the brackets. 1

The literal meaning conveyed via the phrase 'the evening had already blacked in the windows' is the _____ (arrival of night / shadow over ambitions).
